1. Education

Doctor of Philosophy, Soil Science, Texas A&M University 1996
Master of Science, Soil Fertility and Plant Nutrition, Purdue University, 1991
Doctor of Philosophy Student, Near Eastern Languages and Literature, Yale University, 1986-1987.
Bachelor of Arts, General History Major, Religious Studies Minor, Purdue University, 1986

2. Professional Experience

2007 –pres. Northcentral Director, International Plant Nutrition Institute, Norcross, Georgia
1996-2006 Northcentral Director, Potash & Phosphate Institute, Norcross, Georgia
1990-1991 SAS® Software Consultant, Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana

3. Awards and Honors

2009 SSSA Soil Science Industry Award
2006 American Society of Agronomy Educational Materials Award
1995-pres. Gamma Sigma Delta Honor Society of Agriculture
1992-1995 International Minerals Corporation Fellowship
1994 Gary Fitzgerald Scholarship, Texas Plant Food Institute
1992 J. Fielding Reed Potash and Phosphate Institute Fellowship
1986-pres. The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi
1986 Graduated With Distinction from Purdue University
1984-1986 Golden Key International Honour Society
1982 Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award
1982 Valedictorian, Twin Lakes High School

4. Service to Professional Organizations

2009-2010 Member, ASA Division Realignment Task Force
2009-2010 ASA Northcentral Branch, President
2008-2009 ASA Northcentral Branch, President-Elect
2007-2008 ASA Northcentral Branch, Secretary-Treasurer
2006-2009 ASA Division A9 Board Representative
2003-2006 Program Committee Member, Northcentral Extension Industry Conference

2005	Minnesota Agricultural Nutrient Task Force
2004	Scientist, Nitrogen Fertilizer Rapid Assessment Program, Scientific Committee on Problems of the Environment
2003-2009	ICCA – Minnesota: Board Member, 2003-Present
2003-2004	Committee Member, Minnesota Crop Production Research Foundation
2003	CSSA Editorial Affairs, Policies, & Practices Committee 2003
2003	CSSA Crop Management Editorial Board, 2003
2002	ASA Division A9 Annual Meeting Program Committee
2001/2/4/6	Scientific Reviewer, Wisconsin Fertilizer Research Program
2000-2003	Member, Soil and Plant Analysis Council
2000/2/4	Program Committee Member, International Precision Agriculture Conference
1999,2001/3	Program Committee Member, InfoAg Conference
1998-pres.	Member, CSSA
1997-2000	ICCA – South Dakota: Board Member
1996-pres.	Sigma Xi Scientific Research Society
1994-1996	American Chemical Society
1994-1996	Member, Texas Society for Electron Microscopy
1993-pres.	Member, ASA
1992-pres.	Member, SSSA

5. Synergistic Activities

Chair, IPNI Working Group: Nutrient Decision Support Systems for Maize. Dr. Murrell is currently chair of an international working group within the International Plant Nutrition Institute that is focused on improving maize nutrition to narrow the gap in yield between that currently achieved by farmers and that which is ecologically attainable. This effort involves scientists in the U.S., Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, India, and China and is focused on improving food security and meeting future demands for maize.

On-Farm Research and Evaluation. Murrell has created several tools and has trained numerous production agronomists on using the scientific method to evaluate nutrient management practices on the farm. His focus has been on design, analysis, and simple modeling, particularly using Microsoft Excel because of its popularity among crop consultants. Tools include a step-by-step guide for using Excel to conduct an analysis of variance and separate means; a step-by-step guide for examining temporal trends in soil test levels; a spreadsheet for evaluating nutrient budgets over many years; an online database of published crop removal coefficients; step-by-step methodology for using a GIS to identify areas of yield consistency in the field and to calculate nutrient budgets; and a spreadsheet for estimating yield loss with nutrient rate reductions. For additional information, see www.ipni.net/toolbox.
